

Kiwanians Attend Church In Body

CHARLEVOIX TO BE STATE CONVENTION HOSTS

The members of the Kiwanis club have been unusually active during the past week. Last week Mr. Hamilton, manager of the Bay City Business college gave another of his interesting addresses on vocational guidance. He was sponsored by the vocational guidance committee of which Willard Cornell is the chairman.

Go To Church In Body.

Last Sunday was go-to-church time. The members and their ladies met together at Shoppingtons Inn for breakfast. At the morning church hour they attended services at Michelson Memorial church, of which Kiwanian H. W. Kuhlman is the pastor. Only two members out of a membership of 29 were absent.

On Monday evening many of the members and others enjoyed a smelt dinner at Pine Ridge Lodge. It took nearly two bushels of smelt to satisfy the appetites of those present.

Invited To Charlevoix.

Yesterday's meeting was given over to delegates from the Charlevoix club who presented colored motion pictures showing the beauties of this "City-On-Three-Lakes."

Charlevoix will be the host city of the annual state convention of Kiwanis clubs next August 31 and September 1 and 2. Charlevoix club is in the ninth Michigan district and is asking some of the clubs of the 8th district, of which Grayling is a part, to assist in entertaining the state convention delegates.

"Charlevoix the Beautiful" is no misnomer and will be able to entertain the delegates with the beauty spots that make the charm of this delightful city. Besides possessing one of Michigan's finest golf clubs, there are swimming, boating, fishing and many other entertaining attractions. Certainly Michigan Kiwanians will be royally entertained at their next annual convention.

FORMER GRAYLING MAN CAUGHT IN RAID

State police, led by Capt. Don Leonard, Saturday raided a large handbook at 28312 Michigan avenue, Inkster, and arrested Benjamin D. Landsberg, 46, former Inkster police chief, as one of the three alleged operators.

In addition to Landsberg, police arrested Robert Rennie of 1059 Washington avenue, Dearborn, and Michael Kahn, as proprietors. They also seized six employees and took the names of 50 customers, including 12 women.

The six employees were immediately taken before Justice of the Peace Eugene Mokorski of Inkster, convicted of being engaged in an illegal occupation and fined $15 each.—Detroit Times.

Mr. Landsberg was a former resident of Grayling.

Grayling School Band Invites Comparisons

How does our school band compare with other school bands in Michigan? In this article our band is being compared with that of a Class "A" school with 5,000 students in the upper six grades. Grayling has about 250 in the upper six grades.

Two years ago this class "A" school started on an extensive instrumental program to build up a good school band which was organized eleven years prior to the school year 1936-'37.

Information on that school's program shows that in that first year, 1936-'37 they had 200 pupils, or about four percent of their enrollment taking part in their instrumental program. In that year Grayling had no band whatsoever. In our first year to build a band we have sixty-five pupils enrolled in our instrumental program under the supervision of Mr. Rowland.

This Class "A" school today has five hundred students taking part in their instrumental work which is still only ten percent of their enrollment. Our first year with a band shows that we have 26 percent of our students in the upper six grades taking active part in this work.

If Grayling's band should increase at the same comparative speed, in two years we would have 65 percent of our students doing band work. At this rate it would be impossible to accommodate this demand. If the classes in instrumental music were increased by fifteen percent the present supply of instruments would not be sufficient. At present all the instruments are being used by two, three, and four people. Of course they are always sterilized whenever used by a different pupil.

In the last two school years this class "A" school has spent $12,000 on instruments. This is a cost of $24 per pupil, taking in consideration those who own their own horns. With this same point in view Grayling has spent about four dollars per pupil now taking active part in band work.

Furthermore this larger school is charging a rental fee for the use of horns. Our boys and girls are getting the use of these instruments free of charge except for the purchase of reeds for clarinets and saxophones.

Our band can grow rapidly with the aid of the public. The group needs instruments and is working to earn money for this cause. April 26 the Albion College Band is playing here. The profits from this program will be used to purchase badly needed instruments.

The people of Grayling can help the band by attending this concert.

ALBION COLLEGE BAND

Albion College Band Here Next Wed.

WILL APPEAR IN CONCERT AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

The 55-piece Albion College band, under the direction of Mr. Conway Peters, will appear in concert at the School auditorium at Grayling on Wednesday, April 26 at 8:00 p. m.

The band is on its annual tour, which will consist of two trips of one each week. During the tour, the band will play 30 concerts in as many cities.

Soloists with the band are Robert Souter, trumpeter, of Detroit, and Frank Jezisek, violinist, of Albion. Featured also on the program is "Sweethearts, A Musical Fantasia."

Mr. Peters has been on the faculty of Albion College and director of its bands since 1934. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music and of the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago.

CONWAY PETERS

The program follows:
 The Stars and Stripes Forever—March, Sousa.
 Les Preludes—Liszt.
 Stars in a Velvety Sky—Clarke.
 Trumpet solo, Robert Souter.
 Prologue from the opera, "Pagliacci" (The Clowns)—Leoncavallo.

Introduction of Rondo Capriccioso—Saint-Saens. Violin solo, Frank Jezisek.

Sweethearts, A Musical Fantasia—Peters.

Marche Slave—Tchaikowski.

The U. S. Field Artillery, March—Sousa.

Fight On! Albion—LaVigne-Peters.

Grayling school band will participate in the receipts from this concert. The local band is sadly in need of more instruments. By attending this concert by the Albion band you will not only enjoy a fine musical treat but your admission fee will also aid the local school band financially.

NYA Boys Making Street Signs

Five Grayling boys, working under the NYA, are busy making street signs for the city of Grayling. They have their workshop over the fire hall. The city furnishes the lumber and paint and the boys do the work.

These signs are made of yellow pine and lettered in aluminum. The letters are furrowed out and the paint filled in. The board is waterproofed with an asbestos fluid and promises to withstand the ravages of time and abuse.

One sign will cross the other showing the names of both streets. There will be 300 of these double signs. The boys work 56 hours a month and are paid 25¢ per hour. They are under the direction of Neal Cooper of Traverse City, NYA supervisor of nine counties.

Down The Colorado

DR. ELZADA CLOVER GAVE FINE TALK

An illustrated talk on "The Colorado River Expedition" was given by Dr. Elzada Clover, of the Botany Department of the University of Michigan, at the high school auditorium Friday evening.

Both slides and color films were used for the talk which proved to be highly instructive as well as intensely interesting. Miss Clover has a pleasing personality, perfect diction and is very enthusiastic over her subject, she having made the expedition with four others. Few expeditions down the Colorado River have been successful as the hazards are so great that many have lost their lives in the attempt.

The talk was sponsored by The Womens Club and the speaker was introduced by the club president, Mrs. Stanley Stealy. Mr. Fred Welsh operated his movie camera for the pictures.

672nd Company CCC Held Open House

A large number of residents in this vicinity took advantage of the "Open House Invitation" extended by Camp Higgins Lake, on the occasion of their 6th Anniversary Celebration.

Although the day was cold and raw, the Grayling Bugle and Drum Corps was on hand to play for the company review and retreat formation.

Mr. H. J. Rigtierink, State CCC Selecting Agent, spoke briefly to the company after the retreat formation. Enrollee Joseph McMahon and John Seleskey gave short talks on the value of the CCC and the meeting was adjourned.

The celebration closed with a big dance in the mess hall from 8:00 to 12:00 P. M.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1939
SHOULD OLD OCCASIONS BE FORGOTTEN?

The approach of trout fishing time reminds us of an incident that occurred many years ago when Dr. Keyport, Dr. Canfield, Addison Lewis and this editor fished the North Branch.

It was a hot August afternoon and the group landed at Dam Four club and Mrs. Nick Sikora, who served the meals, was requested to serve us dinner that evening. She replied that several club members were present and that if we would wait until they finished dinner that we could be served. "We would like some trout for dinner if possible," said Dr. K.

Fish weren't biting very well that day and about a half dozen were all that we caught. However when dinner time came there was a large platter heaped up with crispy brown brook trout.
"Where did you get them," was asked of our hostess. "My little boy went out and caught them," she replied.

Leave it to these native kiddies;
they know how to catch trout even when well-equipped fishermen fail. With delicious trout and poached eggs the quartette enjoyed a good dinner.

Simplicity Wins
Remember the picture of a ragged boy with a tree branch and bent pin selling a fine string of trout to an angler loaded down with gadgets and equipment?
Something like that happened in Cassopolis, when 100 men and a pack of hounds chased a fox for several hours, only to find that it had been shot by a boy riding on a bicycle and carrying an unloaded shotgun. When the boy saw the fox, he got off his bike, loaded the gun, and fired just once. The chase was over.

CAN SHIRLEY TEMPLE BREAK TRADITION?

Other child stars have faded out of the picture at the age of ten which Shirley celebrates Sunday. It's the dangerous age for child stars.

Harold Heffernan discusses the situation and tells what plans the studio has for her. Watch for this fascinating two-page photographic feature. It appears in the Pictorial Rotogravure Section of

Womans Club

A social meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Holger Schmidt Monday evening, this being the last meeting of the year.

Final reports of officers and chairmen of committees were given, also a report of the meeting of the State Federation of Womans Clubs recently held at Grand Rapids, was given by Mrs.
Stanley Stealy.

Two piano numbers were played by Miss Virginia Peterson and Miss Janey Milnes which were enjoyed by the ladies.

The following committee served lunch: Mrs. Jess Sales, Mrs.
Joseph McLeod, Miss Martha
Johnson and Miss Ruth Patten.

Delaplane in Limelight As Early Cabinet Maker

Certain names stand out among American cabinet makers—Savery in Philadelphia, McIntire in Massachusetts, Goddard in Rhode Island and Duncan Phyfe in New York.
But Phyfe worked late in the Eighteenth century and into the first three decades of the Nineteenth, and it is reasonable to suppose that a wealthy city like New York had cabinet makers of ability during the earlier part of the Eighteenth century since records show that comparatively little furniture was imported, observes a writer in the New York Herald Tribune.

Early records of New York disclose interesting facts about Joshua Delaplane, a cabinet maker who was born in 1690 and died in 1771 and who made furniture for many of the first families of New York. He was one of the earliest cabinet makers whose records show that he worked extensively in mahogany. In 1734 he made a mahogany dressing table for £2, in 1739 a mahogany triangle table for £3, and in 1737 a mahogany chest for £11, 10s.

Table making was apparently his specialty and his records show a wide variety of tables ranging from such simple pieces as an ironing table in 1740 for which he charged 8s, to a mahogany dining table made in 1752 which cost £8, 10s and was 5 feet 3 inches in length and had eight legs and two drawers.

Goldbeaters' Skin Made From Cattle's Intestine

Goldbeaters' skin is a fine membrane made of the outer coat of the intestine of cattle and is used by goldbeaters to separate the leaves of metal during the last and most difficult stages of hammering out goldleaf. The intestine, after being put through several processes, is cut into pieces about five inches square. Its tenacity and powers of resistance are so great that it will resist the continuous pounding of a heavy hammer for several months.

Goldbeaters do their work by hand as they did in ancient times, notes a writer in the Indianapolis News. A large number of leaves are beaten at the same time and hammers ranging in weight from seven to twenty pounds are used.

Gold is the most malleable of all metals and the minimum thickness to which it can be beaten with patience and skill is not known for certain. A single grain of gold has been beaten into a leaf having an area of 75 square inches and a thickness of less than 1-368,000 of an inch. Commercial goldleaf ranges from 1-200,000 to 1-250,000 of an inch in thickness.

Length of Greece
Greece looms large in history, but a trip from one end of Greece to the other is no longer than from Boston to New York.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

During 1939 some 40,000 young men, from 18 to 35, will enlist in the United States army, keeping it at its full strength of 165,000 men. Army Day observances, April 6, draw many youths to recruiting stations without solicitation.

Having passed physical and intelligence examinations, the youth is questioned for possible police records and moral deficiencies. When requirements are satisfactorily met, he is fingerprinted for further criminal identification.

Accepted as a soldier, the recruit then solemnly swears that he will "bear true faith and allegiance to the United States . . . will serve them faithfully against their enemy . . . will obey orders of the President and the orders of the officers appointed."

Under the tutelage of a regular, the recruits learn to march in formation. Then the young men are sent to an army post for the duration of their enlistment. Some are sent to foreign countries, some remain at home. Regardless, "the army builds men."

The Michigan Mirror

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association
By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—Whether the State of Michigan should fix milk prices—just like it fixes prices for electricity, telephone, gas, and other utility services—is one of the numerous controversial issues before the legislature this month.

As you consider the matter at this moment in reading this column, your attitude will probably be influenced largely by whether you are a producer or a consumer.

The producer has genuine grievances: The price at wholesale is too low; it should cover (at least) cost of production; milk is an utility commodity because it is a public necessity; and so on.

The consumer is concerned, however, in price, quality, and service. "Quality" in this case includes safety to his health through sanitary safeguards. If the adult consumer considers the price to be high, or if he lacks the ability to pay, he curtails consumption or eliminates it altogether. Thus, milk must compete to a certain extent with bread, fruit, and other food commodities. In the case of babies and invalids, milk is an outright necessity.

Welsh Milk Bill

A case at hand is the Welsh milk bill, sponsored by the Michigan Milk Producers' association and backed generally by the Farm Bureau and the Grange.

This measure was debated pro and con for two hours at Lansing last week with Rep. Stanton Welsh of St. Clair county and Rep. Maurice Post of Kent county leading its defense and Rep. Joseph Warner of Washtenaw county and Rep. Floyd E. Town of Jackson county leading the attack. Wayne county legislators, typified by Rep. John Hamilton and Rep. Chester Fitzgerald, both Democrats, were critical of milk price fixing on the grounds that it violated consumer interests.

By a vote of 43 to 35, the bill was sidetracked to the house ways and means committee despite a warning by Rep. John Espie of Clinton county, chairman, that it might be re-reported out.

Warner and Town, both dairy farmers, took the position that price fixing of milk was not the duty of state government and that as long as three-fifths of all Michigan produced milk today does not go into bottles, being classified as surplus, the basic problem would still remain unsolved.

The milk problem has two sides, as most problems have. Legislators are perplexed—the 43-35 vote clearly indicating the division of thought.

Cleaning Price-Fixing

Before the senate state affairs committee is Senate Bill 314 which would put the state into the price-fixing business for dry cleaners.

Persons who are in the dry cleaning business complain of "ruinous competition." The wolf in sheep's clothing is the so-called "chisler" who cuts prices and otherwise engages in what his competitor terms "unfair" trade practices.

Recall your "Blue Eagle" NRA days. The argument is strangely familiar.

Senate Bill 314 would create a state dry cleaning and dyeing commission of five members, one of whom as chairman would receive $5,000 a year and the other four would get $4,000 a year. This commission would have broad power to say what are "unfair" trade practices, to limit underselling claims, fix regional minimum prices at both wholesale and retail, and even determine minimum wages and maximum hours.

Expenses of the commission could not exceed $60,000 a year, and business license fees would range from $25 to $100 a year in addition to a flat 25 cents monthly fee for each employee.

Licensing Cooks

The last minute rush of new bills further substantiates our earlier observation of a trend toward further state centralization, whereby everyone and his brother would be regulated in some way by Lansing.

Many of these bills are reasonable in their objective.

It is not our intent to belittle their motives, but rather to present the facts for what they are. It should be pointed out also that some of these measures will probably die in committee, having been introduced as a legislative courtesy to a constituent or some special group.

Here are some examples of state centralization:

Senate bill 332 creating a state commission to examine and license registered and student cooks.

Senate bill 271 creating a state warm air heating and air conditioning board for examinations, licensing, fees, etc.

Senate bill 285 creating a state board of boiler rules; chief inspector to get $3,600; deputy inspectors to get not less than $2,400 each.

Antique Dealers, Too

The innocent and unlightened collector of antiques, who is the prey of unregulated antique dealers, would be protected against "unfair" trade practices by Senate bill 394.

Following the trend of setting of a new bureau for each field of business activity, this measure would create a state board for antique dealers; three members would get $10 per diem and 5 cents mileage expense; dealers would pay a fee of $15 for a license and $10 annually for renewal; non-resident fee would be $25.

And then there are unscrupulous photographers whose unfair trade practices victimize the public. Senate bill 406 would solve this problem. It would dignify photography through a state board of photographic examiners, licensing photographic employers, issuing certificates and so on. Exemptions would include camera men working for newspapers or news syndicates, authors and writers, and amateurs.

Each of the above groups has a just grievance. Each group desires to improve standards, etc., and to curtail the "chiseling" competitor through the power to revoke his state license.

What Price Regulation?

Possibilities of state regulation are almost unlimited.

Among other bills introduced to date are the following:

Licensing of automobile salesmen, gasoline dealers, real estate title abstractors, billboard builders, decorators, painters, paperhangers, tourist cabins, trailer camps, auto wreckers, watchmakers, collection agencies, practitioner of naturopathy, makers of butter substitutes, fight promoters, and business agents for labor unions.

Further trade or professional regulations are proposed on these groups:

Barbers, cosmetologists, chiropractors, dentists, electricians, embalmers, funeral directors, retailers, plumbers.

Several bills seek to regulate the making of bread—slices, standards, etc.

Another bill would require grading of gasoline and oil.

Nearly every one of these regulatory measures would require payment of an annual fee to help maintain the cost of a state commission and its additional policing duties. Indirectly the annual fees constitute special taxes which must be paid either out of private incomes or ultimately out of the consumer's pocketbook. Indirectly, too, each measure is distinctly monopolistic in its objective, justified by sponsors as being for the protection of the public—the consumer.

"Below-Cost" Printing

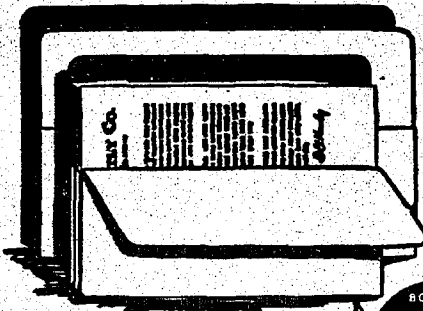

Since this Lansing news letter appears in newspapers which as a rule sell job printing on the side, several readers may wonder if anyone in Michigan has proposed licensing of printers with a code of ethics and unfair trade practices and all the rest.

Since Jan. 1 we have received suggestions from two newspaper publishers who propose such licensing.

A weekly publisher in Barry county wrote March 31: "Have we a fair trade law in Michigan that checks these home printers from cutting prices below a reasonable profit for a regular shop? Please advise."

If every other business group obtains legislative sanction at Lansing for state regulation, printers may seek the same privilege. Newspapers must be printed. For the average small paper at least, job printing is an integral part of its business. A danger to democracy lies in the possibility that a dictator like the late Huey Long, might try to circumvent constitutional freedom of the press and thus to control newspapers by using a threat of higher taxes or licensing fees as a coercive club on editors.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 20, 1916

Chimes of the nearby church were tolling the hour of six, as Charlotte Anna Reed Wheeler Salling passed away from this life at her home in Manistee Friday. Altho 76 years of age, Mrs. Salling was very active and participated in social and religious activities of that city. She was the widow of the late Ernest N. Salling who passed away July 25, 1909, who was a partner in the firm Salling, Hanson Company for 35 years before his death. Tuesday morning Rasmus Hanson chartered a train for Manistee for the relatives and friends who went to attend the funeral of Mrs. Salling. Three daughters survive; Mrs. Oren Hawes and Mrs. Fred Burden of Grosse Pointe Farms, Detroit, and Mrs. Elmer Cornwell of Saginaw.

A south bound train was endeavoring to clear for the mid-night train when in some manner the wrong switch was thrown and the train backed swiftly into the switch leading up against the south end of the depot at Vandebilt, and the box cars went right on thru the depot smashing things up generally. The building and cars were immediately set on fire by an overturned stove. The depot together with all contents and records were completely burned.

Ten Social Security Don't's

Ten don'ts for those who have social security account numbers were issued today by Clifton H. Little, manager of the Social Security Board field office in Traverse City. His suggestions are:

1. Don't give any wrong information when you get a social security number. Give your full name, your exact age and all other facts requested by the Federal Government.

2. Don't lose your social security account number. It is your property throughout your lifetime and should be guarded carefully.

3. Don't fail to make a record of your social security number and keep the record in a safe place even if you lose your card. In this way a duplicate number can be obtained more easily.

4. Don't have more than one social security account card. To have more than one may delay or reduce benefits you will receive later under the old-age insurance plan.

5. Don't give your social security number to any one else. Show it to your employer if he asks for it but keep the card. It is your personal property.

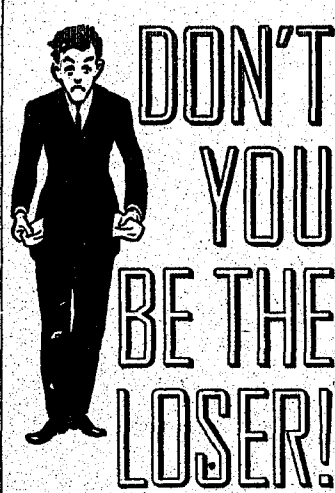

6. Don't hesitate to ask the Social Security Board to cancel extra numbers if you have more than one. This will help the Board keep your wage record up to date and will assure your receiving full credit for all covered wages paid you during your lifetime.

7. Don't hesitate to ask the Social Security Board to correct its records if you have given wrong information when you applied for a social security number. This service is free for the asking.

8. Don't be afraid the information contained in your social security application will be disclosed by the government. This information is held in strict confidence and is not available to any one.

9. Don't fail to apply for a money payment if you reach age 65 and have worked in commerce or industry since January 1, 1937. You may be entitled to a substantial sum under such circumstances. The same is true if you are the legal heir of a worker who has died since the date mentioned, after having been employed in a covered occupation.

10. Don't hesitate to call at the Traverse City field office of the Social Security Board for any information you may desire about any phase of social security. It is your office, all of its services are free and yours for the asking.

Adequate Insurance can be secured to fully protect you against every possible loss. A Check-Up will show you the weakness of your present insurance, show you how to secure more protection and better coverage—don't wait—take advantage of our Protection Advisory Service.

The more difficult and hazardous the job, the safer it will be done.

When roads are slippery, when sleet freezes on the windshield; when the weather is foggy and vision is poor, America's automobile drivers are noted for their caution and safe driving. Why? It is because the need for safety—not so much for others but for ourselves—is so apparent that everyone exercises the utmost care. Self-preservation!

Why can't we exercise the same caution during clear weather and when roads are good?

It brings to mind the oft repeated statement: when driving an automobile, only you are responsible. The safety of others depends upon your actions. It is a definite personal responsibility.

It's smart to Drive Carefully!

Pedestrian, walk with the lights. Do not ignore this warning. The lights are put up for your protection and should be used accordingly. There are just as many pedestrians trying to "beat" the lights as there are auto drivers. Why take a chance? Why invite trouble?

Life will be longer, sweeter, and safer if we use just ordinary common sense in walking and driving.

RUNS WHITE HOUSE

From this desk in her office on the basement floor of the White House, Mrs. Henry F. Nesbitt, housekeeper and accountant, supervises the domestic staff, makes certain that the President gets his meals on time, that there is ample food on hand and enough linen, silver and china to serve the Roosevelts and the White House guests.

EASTER
Most representative and unchanged of all children's toys are those of Easter time.

The furry rabbit, as usual, is the most popular of children's Easter toys in 1939. Christmas presents are already broken or forgotten, and their owners eagerly welcome the Easter bunny. Here a worker in a larger eastern toy factory cuts the pattern for a rabbit, which, Easter Sunday morning, delights some happy child.

Quarrelsome Donald Duck is rapidly growing in popularity. Though many other Easter toys are manufactured, the Bunnies and Donald easily lead in total sales. This particular duck, when completed, may be shipped to any part of the world.

Surrounded by thousands of stuffed toys, this girl is busy dressing a rooster. After workmen have completed manufacture of the toy, it is then dressed and made ready for shipping. Manufactured primarily for smaller children, Easter toys are usually not mechanical.

This workman trims the whiskers on Brer Rabbit, and no one could be more of an authority on the job. Perhaps he is prompted by jealousy to clip them that close. Regardless of the length of his whiskers, Brer Rabbit always finds himself in the arms of some enthusiastic five-year-old on Easter Sunday morning.

CONSTRUCTING TOURIST CAMP ALONG AU SABLE

Glenn F. Penrod of Garden City has purchased the property of Julius Nelson east of State Street known as the Fischer field and has begun construction of eleven buildings. There are to be four cottages 12x14 and seven 18x24. The smaller buildings will be overnight cabins and six of the larger cottages will sleep six people, and one building will be a utility building. They are to be built of Air-Lock logs, with cement foundations; Herbert Pruehs is in charge of the construction for the National Log Construction Company.

The cottages are being built along the bank, facing the river, and the large ones are to have 1x12 screened in porches. They will be all modern with showers, lavatories and closets, and in the large ones there will be gas for cooking.

Mr. and Mrs. Penrod have been coming to the north for the past ten years and this last winter made their home at the Miss Ingle cottage at Lake Margrethe. They liked it so well here that Mr. Penrod sold his business in Garden City, and decided to go into the tourist business here.

A road is being built into the grounds from State street and runs along the foot of the hill and will circle around back of the cabins.

Mr. Penrod is welcome to our city.

Friend Oscar:

Quite often of late have noticed reference to Houghton lake being closed to winter fishing through recent act of legislature. This is somewhat misleading in that all fishing has not been curtailed but rather it applies to spearing through the ice. The spear has been outlawed in the taking of pike through the ice in winter but otherwise no change has been made in line fishing for wall-eyes, perch and blue gills. It is high time, however, that all lakes be closed to all manner of fishing during the winter months if we are to have an attraction for summer tourists, a magnet on their pocketbook.

Yours truly,
D. E. Matheson.

LOCAL BOY MEMBER OF BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

Cheboygan, April 12—Dewey Courts of Grayling is a member of the Class "B" Championship Basketball team of Northern Michigan, the aggregation which represents the National Youth Administration Resident Work Project at Cheboygan.

The NYA quintet won its title by capturing a double-header from the teams of Vanderbilt and Indian River here last week. Following a 27-20 triumph over the former in the curtain-raiser, the team, which is coached by Dan Lukut of Michigan State Normal College, came from behind to overcome a five-point lead by Indian River in the last three minutes and win, 20-19.

Captain Dewey Courts of Grayling and high-scorer Joe McMahon of Roscommon, pace-setters for the NYA club throughout the season, were the stars of the Indian River encounter. The NYA project at Cheboygan is one of seven resident units throughout Michigan. Its personnel is comprised of unemployed young men, 18-21 years old, who are given opportunities for study and practical experience along many vocational lines. At Cheboygan, the boys, who live in a co-operative camp supported by pro-rata sharing of expense, study correspondence courses, work on various jobs given to them by the local board of education in their own shops, and thus increase their chances of employment by private industry.

Photo-Gram, houseorgan for the Chrysler Co., Detroit, in their current issue devote a whole page to the AuSable and Jack Redhead, famous AuSable guide. The entire issue is beautifully illustrated and contains interesting descriptive articles of varied subjects. "Queens of the Skyways" tell of some of the requirements, and experiences of airplane stewardesses. One page tells how Chrysler keeps ahead in motoring safety. A double page spread tells of "Hobby Hobbling with Plymouth and Chrysler Owners."

The Jack Redhead page is headed "Goin' for Trout." It shows him in several characteristic poses. To those rookies who desire to go trout fishing he offers the following suggestions:

Here's What You Need

Rod—You won't want an expensive rod, but don't get one too cheap either. One retailing in the neighborhood of $10 will be most practical for the beginner.

Line—You'll find a level line retailing for approximately $3.00 to be the most practical for your purposes. Double tapered lines will come later.

Waders—Hip boots can be used but waders are most practical even for the beginner. They cost about $10.00. Remember to get a pair of suspenders for them. You'll need both hands for fishing.

Landing Net—If you want to make sure of your trout you'd better spend $1.00 for a landing net.

Leaders—A quality leader is good economy. Better buy a half dozen at 50 cents each.

Flies—You ought to have six patterns of flies. As protection, better buy four of each pattern. They will cost you $2.00 a dozen.

Reel—A $2.00 reel will give you good service and will be adequate for your needs.

Creel and Strap—You've got to have something to carry those trout in—a $1.50 item.

Miscellaneous—A 25-cent leader box, 75-cent fly box, pocket knife, and a can of Muscillin or some other good fly dressing.

This is all the equipment you need. You'll find yourself adding other things from time to time. A thing you cannot buy at the sporting goods store—patience—is a most important item to have with you at all times. Remember that skill and experience will come gradually. Take up trout fishing. I'll guarantee that regardless of your age or sex, you'll find it the greatest sport you've ever tried.

A copy of Photo-Gram was furnished us by Secretary T. F. Marston of the East Michigan Tourist association.

Incidentally Photo-Gram has a quarter million circulation.

The Michigan Mirror

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association
By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—In this day of double-header movie attractions, Michigan's capital city is being enthralled by two sensational thrillers:

First—"The Mystery of Frank McKay, or Why Did He Get $92,000 for the Blue Water Bridge?"

Second—"The Enigma of State Buying, or Why Were State Orders Cancelled for Higher Prices?"

With investigations under way by Governor Luren D. Dickinson, the two thrillers promise to become serials. Capital citizens, accustomed to official probes, are wondering what the final chapters will be like. At any rate, the suspense here is breath-taking.

The McKay sensation involves two state administrations—Fitzgerald's term in 1935 and 1936 when the financing was arranged, and Murphy's term in 1937 and 1938 when the structure was built.

The bridge project was fathered by a special state commission and financed by a $2,300,000 bond issue underwritten by a Toledo bond firm, Stranahan, Harris & Co. The state highway department built the highway approach at Port Huron.

Why did McKay, former state treasurer, receive $92,000 in connection with the bond issues for this bridge? Or was this fee paid for other services? Governor Dickinson has ordered a complete investigation.

Read Asked to Probe

Attorney General Thomas Read has been given the responsibility of making the official inquiry into the McKay fee.

In making this assignment, Governor Dickinson found himself in the position of asking a McKay-endorsed state officer to investigate McKay. Capital observers recall that when Read was a candidate for lieutenant governor with the support of McKay, his chief primary opponent was Mr. Dickinson.

Like all mysteries, the McKay case has numerous ramifications.

PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes has jumped into the picture with a disclosure that he had rejected the bridge project in 1935 on the grounds that the financial proposal was unwise. Counter to Ickes' boast is the untarnished fact that the Port Huron Bridge is earning money faster than the commission anticipated it would and that the 20-year bond issue may be retired in the next ten years, if present earnings are maintained.

More Commissions

In the McKay serial plot is another figure, Stewart P. Blazier of Grosse Pointe, Detroit manager for Stranahan, Harris Co.

It was revealed at Washington that Blazier had received $18,685 in "commissions" for services performed in connection with the $2,300,000 bond issue, in addition to a salary of $4,800.

Blazier was a personal friend of the late Governor Fitzgerald. Incidentally, he was one of the pallbearers at the Grand Ledge funeral.

Throughout the entire matter, several facts stand out. The federal government is not concerned, as both McKay and Blazier have seemingly accounted for every dollar of income for federal taxation purposes. Unlike Pendergast, the Kansas City political leader, McKay is reputed to have deep respect for the internal revenue department at Washington. Furthermore, no state funds are directly involved as the bridge bonds were sold to private investors. It apparently was a private business transaction between the Toledo bond house and the two Michigan men—McKay and Blazier. Hence it has all the earmarks of legality.

Instead of one standardized maintenance for state highways, the thrust at Van Wagoner would create 88 varieties. The Democratic commissioner has 1,200 maintenance employees—1,200 jobs which could be distributed among deserving Republicans. The bill is undeniably political in purpose.

State Deficit Grows

While double-header mysteries are still making the headlines, Governor Dickinson and the administration are wrestling with a critical financial dilemma—a treasury deficit prospect of approximately $30,000,000 by June 30.

To pay current cost of operating the state government, Michigan is dipping into special earmarked funds in an attempt to avert the use of script or outright bankruptcy. Ordinarily the treasury has a balance of around $15,000,000. Today it shows a red ink deficit of $18,000,000 with three months' bills yet to be paid.

The higher prices for state purchases authorized by buyers after lower-price orders had been cancelled, were directly counter to the governor's economy program. Governor Dickinson's salary cutting statement was an indication of the extremity to which he is ready to go in order to restore sound fiscal government to Michigan.

Hiking Prices

The second mystery thriller was uncovered by Auditor General Vernon J. Brown. It concerns the question: Why were certain orders cancelled by state buyers and substitute orders made out at higher prices?

The legislature recently transferred all accounting responsibility to the office of the auditor general who is a member of the state administrative board.

Digging into the records of buying done by the state since Jan. 1, Brown bared some startling transactions: Purchase of a tractor, selling at retail for less than $1,000, for a total amount of $1,250 including a traded-in tractor.

purchase of a plow, selling at retail for $110, for a total of $150.95; cancelling orders for 15,152 tons of coal and substituting new orders through another firm for 10,000 tons at higher prices; and sale of alleged inferior feed for cattle at higher prices.

Brown summed it up: "Local dealers have been ignored and articles bought of distant sales agents at prices above open market quotations. . . . Unless Michigan men display more intelligent buying than its central purchasing department has yet demonstrated, it had better hand the job back to heads of departments and institutions."

Barnard Involved

Edward Barnard, Wayne county Republican boss, and McKay, Kent county leader, virtually dictated the choice of nominees of the Republican party last fall.

In order to cripple Barnard in Wayne county, Rep. Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth introduced a bill calling for congressional district conventions, all on the same day. Encouraged by young Republican legislators who are itching for a "new deal" in Michigan Republicanism, the bill was rushed through the House.

In the Senate, however, it was killed in committee but only on the day following the spring election.

Senator D. Hale Brake, chairman of the judiciary committee, promptly introduced a new anti-Barnard bill and by precedent-breaking methods obtained suspension of rules for the particular measure, for the deadline for introduction of bills had passed.

Barnard's power in Wayne county, as the acknowledged ruler of county conventions, will be sharply curtailed if Brake's bill receives legislative sanction. The McKay fee exposure has greatly enhanced its chances of passage. It also sharpens the cleavage that is developing in Republican ranks.

Highway Patronage Raid

If Murray D. VanWagoner were a Republican, the house of representatives would not have given a moment's consideration of a bill seeking to deprive the state highway department of maintenance of state trunk roads, returning this responsibility to the counties.

In 1925 a Republican highway commissioner, Frank Rogers, took over maintenance of state roads in 18 counties. His successor, Grover C. Dillman, also a Republican, furthered this policy by taking over 14 additional counties. The trend was continued by VanWagoner, a Democrat, and today the state department is responsible for snow clearance, ice sanding and general maintenance of state roads in 50 of the 88 counties, 18 counties being added in the past six years.

Should a severe snowstorm hit West Michigan, the state highway department mobilizes trucks and plows from counties not affected by the storm. The mobility of the state's snow-fighting equipment is recognized generally as a distinct public asset.

Grange Notes

At the last meeting of Crawford Grange, degrees were given in full form to eight candidates in the third and fourth degrees. Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeLaMater of Gaylord were present, also other visitors from Gaylord. Mr. DeLaMater gave the initiatory work.

One new name was balloted on. After business was finished, everyone went to the dining room where a bountiful pot luck supper was served to about seventy people, young and old. After supper dancing was enjoyed for some time.

Saturday night, April 22nd, the Grange will give a benefit party. Cards, Bunco, and dancing will be in order. Lunch will be served. Admission price will only be 15c.
